CANNERS SCORE SUGAR GOUGERS

Manufacturers of Preserves Will Close Factories Rather Than Pay Exorbitant Prices—Sugar Broker Testifies That 9 Different Dealers Take Profit.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, May 21.—With prices of wearing apparel and general merchandise coming down all over the country, the sugar situation was the only fly in the economic ointment today and it was indicated from various sources that the next big drive will be on speculators in that commodity.

The situation has been aggravated by the further advance of one cent a pound wholesale, bringing sugar to the highest point it has been in years.

Manufacturers of preserves from all over the country, in convention here, have decided to take drastic action.

Faced with sugar prices that would make their manufacturing price almost prohibitive by the time it reached the consumer, preservers claimed today they would close their factories before they would be "gouged" by the sugar speculators. "There is no shortage in sugar," said M. Blakemore, president of the National Preservers and Fruit Products Association. "Speculators have yelied shortage until they have scared the public into paying these outrageous prices, while all the time they have been holding vast stocks for higher and still higher prices. There is more sugar this year than ever before. Furthermore, the export demand is smaller."

"Our members need 125,000 tons of sugar for the preserving season which is just starting, but we will close our factories unless these speculators cut their price in half."

Eighty five percent of the entire industry is represented by the manufacturers meeting here.

Witnesses before the Lusk investigating committee, which is delving into the sugar situation in New York state, testified that the Cuban crop was bought last year for about 12 cents a pound. It has since receded between 20 and 31 cents a pound.

Louis W. Minford, a prominent sugar broker, testified that sugar passed through nine hands from producer to consumer, each taking a profit.

PRICE SLASHING CONTINUES TODAY

By Telegram to The Freeman. Boston, May 21.—Slashing of prices of wearing apparel continued today in many New England communities. Simultaneously, leading Massachusetts textile mills stated they favored a curtailment of production, involving a reduction of working days from six to five and in some instances, to four days a week. Cancellation of orders, lack of raw material and transportation difficulties were the main factors in the situation, mill agents said. Although prices of clothing and dry goods went down, food prices held at their high level. Sugar advanced one cent a pound, making the wholesale price 21 1/2 cents a pound.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New Haven, Conn., May 21.—The first trial spin of the Resolute and Vanitie, scheduled for 11 o'clock this morning, was postponed until this afternoon by the regatta committee. It was stated at the New Haven Yacht Club. Heavy rain and lack of wind caused the committee to decide to wait until later in the day when, if the weather is favorable, the yachts will be started.

A SELF-MADE AUTHOR.

At the funeral of William Dean Howells in the Church of the Ascension, New York, the officiating minister said: "He was brought up on the philosophy of Swedenborg and, in spite of the realism he was noted for, he had some of the spirit of this great mystic." However that may be, it is true that in his most readable novels Mr. Howells departed somewhat from his theory that the commonplace of uneventful every day life are the proper and only fit subjects for fiction. A romantic writer once pointedly reminded him that "the passion flower is as real as the potato," and whether he was impressed by this view of the matter or not, he modified his own professed plan, giving place to a certain idealism in his "realistic" fiction. With many readers of today, however, after rendering inevitable tribute to Mr. Howells' wholly admirable literary style, there is left the impression that too often in his stories the great things of life are subordinated to its trivialities.

The career of this author is of great interest and a source of inspiration to the struggling young journalist. For he was not college bred, was largely self-educated, and he climbed to the top from the lowly beginning of a printer's boy at twelve and a reporter's drudgery on an Ohio paper a few years later. He was fortunate in happening to please President Lincoln and in receiving appointment as consul at Venice, a virtual sinecure which permitted continuous literary work. A greater piece of good luck was his freedom to "run" his own novels in the Atlantic Monthly and thus introduce them to the public after he was called to that periodical's editorial chair. But it was his originality, his ability to create a "new school" of fiction, that brought him great success.

INSUFFICIENT PUNISHMENT.

Probably no criminal was ever more deserving of hanging than Watson, the Californian who confessed to the murder of nine wives, and is believed to have murdered several others, merely because he tired of them and wanted new ones. But under California law life imprisonment is the maximum penalty, and such has been his sentence. Watson was regarded as mentally responsible, and the court declared his crimes to be the most heinous in the records of criminology, yet he inspires sympathy among weak-minded sentimentalists who are to be found in every community. While he was in prison awaiting trial such persons were permitted to send him flowers and letters of pity. There can be no assurance that this abominable spectacle will not continue to be witnessed now that he is locked up for life, or even that the public will be spared crazy attempts to secure a reduction of his term if not his pardon.

This beast in human shape and the depraved sentiment that stobbers over him together furnish one of the strongest arguments ever offered in favor of capital punishment. Opponents of the death penalty who claim that a life term equitably protects society must admit that the hanging of Watson would at least put an end to a sickening spectacle and stop the injury thereby done to young and impressionable minds.

BOLSHEVIST FUNDS.

After four months of idleness, which virtually paralyzed Holland's shipping and foreign commerce, the Dutch watermen's strike has ended in failure. The strike itself is less a matter of importance to the world than its origin, for the strike was an international rather than a local event, being, according to seemingly reliable reports, not only inspired but financed in Bolshevik Russia. An "export in American national and international" is quoted as saying that two millions of guilders—about $800,000—were sent from Russia "in the hope of making the Netherlands an experimental farm for the whole world." Through the estimate of the sum seems extravagant, apparently Dutch Russian money was employed in various ways, including the distribution of Bolshevik "literature," and materially helped the watermen of Holland to hold out 125 days. Where do the Bolsheviks get the money for such campaigns abroad in addition to the cost of keeping their grip on Russia itself? Part of the answer appears to be supplied by the statement that the funds sent to Holland were not in coin or bank bills but in the form of diamonds, rubies, malachite, necklaces and jewelry of every sort—"personal property that did not come off the necks, fingers or wrists of those who decreed its distribution." Observers have wondered how the Bolsheviks have managed on the flat money they have brought into existence, but this is by no means their sole reliance. From the outset they have possessed themselves of enormous wealth by despoiling the richer Russians and robbing the churches which latter in the course of ages became the repositories of vast treasure in the form of golden and jeweled adornments.

RUSSIA CRAVES U. S. FRIENDSHIP

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, May 21.—Russia would go to great lengths to enter a full political and economic agreement with the United States, it was declared by M. Titcher, foreign minister in the soviet government in a wireless interview with the International News Service today.

M. Titcher lays the blame for the present war between Russia and Poland upon the Poles' desire for Russian territory. The statements of the Bolshevik foreign minister were made in reply to a list of questions which were transferred to Moscow from Berlin by wireless. The interrogations covered a wide range and in response to them M. Titcher sent the following radiogram:

"There could be a territorial agreement between Russia and Poland if Poland did not aspire to conquer foreign territory. Soviet Russia has always recognized Poland's independence and does not claim any Polish territory. "As to Germany, soviet Russia seeks agreements with all countries and wishes to enter into relations with all powers. Germany not excluded. Therefore an economic agreement with Germany is desirable to us as with Great Britain or America. "A full political and economic agreement with the United States is one of the foremost ideas of soviet Russia. Russia would go to great lengths to enter into such an agreement."

A LOGICAL RESULT

Says French Paper of British Defeat in Persia.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, May 21.—"The Bolshevik victory in Persia was the logical result of the British destroying Persia's independence," said the Echo de Paris today in commenting upon the invasion of Persia by the Russians and the retirement of the British.

The Echo de Paris referred to the Anglo-Persian agreement which was negotiated between the British and Persian governments. It was explained in London that the design of this pact was to strengthen the Persian government. In return Britain secured commercial rights in Persia.

QUIT TALKING, JAIL GOUGERS

Vice-President Marshall Also Commends People Will Solve Prohibition Problem—Amendment Must Be Enforced—What Exact Justice
Would Do.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Indianapolis, May 21.—A "lawful way of loosening, what to some seems to be the rigors" of the federal prohibition amendment will be found by the people, Thomas Riley Marshall, vice-president of the United States, declared at the Democratic state convention yesterday.

Asserting that "equal and exact justice for all men means for minor-ties as well as for majorities," and questioning whether "we went forward when we passed the prohibition amendment and then immediately began openly and avowedly to seek ways to evade it," the vice-president said that "while the prohibition amendment remains it must be enforced."

"Let us quit talking about the prohibitor and begin jailing him," was the vice-president's advice.

"Let us not delude ourselves into the belief that the currency and credit of this country can double, population increase and the production remain at a standstill, and yet that the high cost of living may be reduced and peace, plenty and prosperity abound in the land. Let us quit talking about the prohibitor and begin jailing him. And let the man who works understand that in greater production he benefits himself as well as his fellow man."

"Equal and exact justice to the people of this country was not guaranteed to them under old Republican rule when it justified special privileges upon the ground of the common good of the American people, for it knew that the legislation was one percent common and ninety-nine percent preference.
There won't be in the future equal and exact justice if there be but a gamble between cunning and cupidity. Who doubts that in this enlightened age equal and exact justice applied as a principle, would give to labor a fair and honest wage, would demand of labor a fair and honest day's work, would induce both labor and capital to see their duty to the ultimate consumer, would punish the profiteer and teach the laborer that he alone can make of himself a commodity?"

"Equal and exact justice means legislation for American citizens.
They alone have the right to present their grievances. Their laws should be readjusted in the interests of the entire people. Men are not entitled to equal protection of the law because they are bankers or bakers, millionaires or mechanics, lawyers or laborers. For their private good and for the advancement of their own interests, they have a perfect right of form for instance, manufacturing associations and federations of labor, but neither has a right to present a grievance to congress as a class grievance. It has every right to present it as an American grievance if it be one."

Chairman of the Mexico City Council, Cecilio Garza Gonzales.

Inspector General of Police, Colonel Louis Amieva.

The new administration has decreed all Mexicans who were expelled by Venustiano Carranza and those who fled the country when Carranza came into power, may now return without molestation. This decree was described as causing "unbounded enthusiasm."

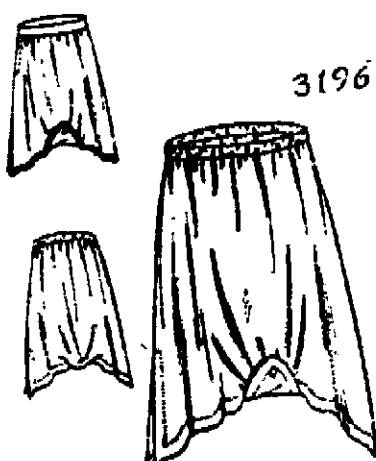

Congress is expected to appoint a provisional president at Mexico City on Monday. The members have been holding conferences among themselves, discussing eligible candidates, according to information from Mexico City. It is reported from the capital that, if Carranza is captured, he will be arraigned before congress and formally impeached.

It is reported from Mexico City that the Carranzistas, when they fled the capital, took with them 14,000,000 pesos in gold and silver coins from the national treasury.

TURKS SUPPORT MUSTAPHA KEMAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Constantinople, April 20 (By Mail).—While keeping an eye anxiously on San Remo, Damed Ferid Pasha's professedly anti-Nationalist government are showing fresh energy in arresting adherents of the Anatolian movement and promising the sternest repressive measures to stamp out the movement led by Mustapha Kemal.

They have not, however, prevented the flight of more than two hundred officers of all ranks from Constantinople to Anatolia, including General Freid Pasha, who was recently a high official at the war office. They have finally arrested the leading members of the Nationalist committee at Bestari, which, since the occupation, has been working openly in conjunction with the headquarters at Angora, forwarding fugitives of all classes from the capital unhindered by the government, which until recently had not even had sentries posted on the roads leading to Asia Minor.

There has been a regular procession of military and civil volunteers for Mustapha's forces passing the Bosphorus and taking up the Anatolian trail in oxcarts.

Meanwhile Mustapha's forces are acting vigorously while Constantinople talks. Anzuvur, who was beaten back to the coast exhausted through lack of men and munitions, came here recently, saw the Sultan and the Grand Vizier, and appealed for help, which he said was essential to revitalize the anti-Nationalist movement.

Mustapha's forces north of Smyrna are trying to sweep westward to retake the country occupied by Anzuvur's peasant volunteers. They have already captured Gunan. Their progress is marked by the harshest reprisals against the local authorities who assisted the rising against the Angora dictator. Mustapha's chief of staff, who visited Broussa this week, ordered the hanging of twenty-seven notables in the market place and two others at Karajabagh.

The Grand Vizier promises that a summary courtmartial shall be organized within three days to try the arrested Nationalists, and will inflict severe punishment in order to "remove the bad impression created in Europe" by the ineffectiveness of the present measures.

(Note—Mustapha Kemal, Al Fud Pasha, Alfred Rustem Bey, Dr. Adnan Bey and several others were recently condemned to death by an extraordinary courtmartial. Mustapha and his aides failed to appear before the court and were found guilty by default on charges that the agitation of the Nationalists caused the allies to impose severe peace terms on Turkey. The action of the court, it was reported, caused much amusement among foreigners in Constantinople, as the government of the Sultan has no authority in Anatolia.)

Little Reduction in Capital.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 21.—Two men's furnishing stores here yesterday had large advertisements announcing reductions in prices. One store advertised a cut of 25 per cent and another 15 per cent. Charles J. Columbus, secretary of the Merchants' Association, stated that general reductions will follow partly due to the unusually late summer season.

RED CROSS AID FOR LEGION DRIVE

The following communication from E. C. Munroe, general manager of the American Red Cross, has been sent to all Chapters: Franklin D'Olier, the National Commander of the American Legion, in a letter to the Chairman of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross has stated that the American Legion will undertake a nation-wide campaign for new members during the week of May 17th-22nd, and asks the cooperation of the Red Cross in this effort. While the well-known policy of the Red Cross will prevent official participation in any campaign conducted by another organization, it is equally clear that this effort on the part of the American Legion should command the friendly cooperation of the Red Cross in every legitimate way. The relations of the Red Cross to the Army and Navy of the United States are so close, and the cooperation of the American Legion with the Red Cross has been so cordial and constant in the past, that we are sure that the most friendly assistance of the members of the Red Cross will be given to make the approaching campaign a success in all parts of the country.

LYONSVILLE.

Lyonsville, May 20.—Claude Christiana and family of Ellenville are spending a few days at the home of his parents and grandparents. A number from this place attended the auction at Whitfield on Tuesday. Miss Drucilla Christiana is spending a few days with her father and brother. Alvin Trowbridge and family of Middletown, N. Y., spent the week end at the home of Archie Trowbridge. Floyd V. Davis is building a new hen house. Miss Maude Oakley and Miss Elizabeth Elmendorf were out for a drive on Monday afternoon.

Bridge Men Here Wednesday.

Representatives of Terry & Tichen, who have the contract to erect the proposed bridge across the Rondout creek, were in Kingston Wednesday looking over the situation. The question of when actual work will be started has not been settled, and the transportation problem, especially by railroad, is undoubtedly delaying the work.

THEY PASSED-UP $5 GREEN ENVELOPE

Although warned that S. Cohen's Sons green envelope would appear among the workers at the American Cigar Factory some time Thursday, about two hundred workers, rather than be fooled by a fake envelope, passed up the big $5 envelope and it remained for Miss Edna McCordie of 146 Highland avenue to secure the prize. The green envelope was suspended from the awning in front of Mahan & Walker's drug store opposite the cigar factory and as the workers passed out from the factory it swung to the breeze in plain sight. Many of the workers saw the envelope, but thinking it was a "fake" they smiled and passed along. Miss McCordie, the last of a group of about 50 workers, "took a chance" and as a reward will receive $5 from Cohen's and two theater tickets to Keeney's theater. Watch for the green envelopes now for many of them will contain $2 and four theater tickets. They are liable to drop anywhere and at any time.

AT THE THEATERS.

"An Innocent Idea" at Opera House Tomorrow.

"An Innocent Idea" with an all star cast, will be presented at Kingston Opera House tomorrow matinee and night. The farce is a distinct novelty of its kind. It is admittedly a "bedroom farce," but with a difference.

Tonight "The House Without Children," a motion picture, will be shown at the Opera House.

The Auditorium offers Corrine Griffith in "The Golden Shower." Tomorrow Edith Roberts in "Her Five Foot Highness" and the last episode of Antonio Moreno in "The Invisible Hand."

Huckleberry Finn will again be shown at Keeney's tonight and tomorrow.

Is America Becoming Pagan?

A high official in one of the Christian Churches very recently made a public statement in which he charged that America is fast drifting into a condition of Paganism. He furnished what to him were proofs beyond a possible dispute. Dr. Baragwanath, pastor of the St. James Methodist Church, will try to answer this important question on Sunday night, taking up, frankly and fully, the counts in the indictment.

Trail Pointer.

You can't make your face. Perhaps, if you could, you would make it different; perhaps not. But you can make your voice. You can make it gentle or harsh, you can make it pleasant or quarrelsome, you can make it common or refined, you can make it appealing or repelling. Many a job has been refused because of an unpleasant voice, many a friendship rebuffed because of tones that grate harshly on the ear. A "common" voice shuts tight the door of many social and business opportunities.—In Minneapolis Star.

SATURDAY, MAY 22

MATINEE AND NIGHT

THEN HE TOOK OFF HIS PANTS

A Clothing Deal That Created Some Amusement Downtown. And a Pair Of Pants That Noted $20, But Later Price Dropped to $9.

It was an ideal spring evening a night or so ago and one of downtown's young men strolled along with not a care on his mind, and he only hoped that he would enjoy the evening to the fullest extent. As he walked along gaily whistling he was hailed by another young man on the opposite side of the street. He stopped and the following conversation ensued:

"I'll give you $5 for those pants you have on," said the one. In some circles pants is taboo, but among ordinary mortals the word trousers is obsolete.

"Nix," replied the jaunty one as he surveyed the article in question rather proudly.

"I'll give you all the money I have in my pocket," was the next offer, "but you will have to take them off now and bring them across the street to me."

"You're on," agreed the other without a moment's hesitation, "but first put your cash in the hands of a reputable stakeholder."

The cash, totaling $29, was duly deposited.

The one began to disrobe, and unashamed crossed the street in his union suit carrying the pants in one hand and with the other outstretched in the direction of the stakeholder.

The one who had made the rash offer was flabbergasted as he had not thought the other would take him up, and $29 for a pair of pants even in these days of the h. c. l. is still rather steep.

The one who sold the pants, after handing the money for a time, decided, after reading in the newspapers that the price of clothing was on the wane, that probably $9 would be enough for the sale, and meeting the one who had bought the pants he gave him back $20.

It is needless to say that the $20 was not refused.

It will be a long, long time before the one who bought the pants will embark on a similar clothing deal.

The pants were too small for the new owner, and he is trying to arrange a sale of them to a smaller man.

RULES REMOVED TO MOVE CARS

Interstate Commerce Commission Tells Roads to Suspend Car Service Regulations Until Terminal Construction Is Broken Up—Directs Use of Direct Routes.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 21.—Legal bars were lifted on all railroads today to break traffic congestion.

Responding to appeals from municipal officials throughout the country, the interstate commerce commission, in the most drastic move yet taken to clear away the rail tangles, invoked its emergency powers under the new law, by a sweeping suspension of time honored car service regulations. The rules will remain inoperative as long as the crisis makes it necessary. Rail executives, assuming active personal direction of traffic movement on their respective lines, left Washington for their headquarters today after final conferences with the commission, confident that the authority given by the commission which removes certain hampering federal and state restrictions, will effectually clear up the big terminals of congested freight and make way for free movement of essential commodities. Many expressed confidence that relief from the congestion would be felt within a few days. It will take weeks, however, to move the enormous tonnage stalled on the railroads and effect an equitable distribution of the empty car equipment.

The commission's order specifically directs that all traffic be forwarded to destinations by the most expeditious route available. With the lifting of legal restrictions on the changing of routings, the railroads may tackle the traffic jams free from interference. The carriers will not suffer any financial loss through the diversion of cars over the quickest routes to destinations, as the commission in its order stipulates that the charges for transportation of all such traffic will be the same as they would have been if such re-routing had not been effected.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, May 21.—Prices showed an irregular tendency at the opening of the stock market today, although the majority of issues were established at lower levels. Steel Common dropped 5/8 to 9 1/8 and Republic Steel 1 1/2 to 36 1/2. Crucible Steel fell 3/4, but quickly recovered to 126. Baldwin yielded fractionally to 109, but soon rallied to last night's closing price. The sugar shares were in supply, Cuba American sugar falling 3/4 to 56, and Santa Clara Sugar 1 1/2 to 103. The oil shares held firm, Mexican Petroleum, after dropping to 169, rallying to 171. Pan-American Petroleum sold off 1/4, but quickly shot up to 36 1/2. Fractional improvement was shown in the other oils. There was little change in the motors. Studebaker holding around 43, while Pierce Arrow showed a slight gain at 43 1/2. The railroad shares generally were fractionally lower.

The market was without violent reactions during the first hour and although there were some recessions there was an entire absence of unreasonableness and the disposition prevailed to accumulate stocks. Steel Common showed a loss of 1 point at 91 and Republic stocks were in fairly good demand, Mexican Petroleum ranging from 168 to 171 1/2 and Pan-American from 94 1/2 to 95. The railroad stocks were active 2 1/2 times but were generally apathetic. There was a pronounced strength in bond issues, the demand at a less scale and prices made gains of 1/2 to 2 points. The market held steady during the afternoon with business very quiet.

The market closed irregular; government bonds unchanged.

NO EXTORTION FOR ELLENVILLE MEN

Determination to Fight for Their Reputations Led to Arrest of Woman Who Had Written Threatening Letters.

Further details of the plan by which Mrs. Mary A. Austin is charged with trying to obtain money from various residents of Ellenville, which resulted in her arrest on a charge of sending threatening letters through the mail, throw an interesting sidelight on the attitude of men who had the stamina to fight for their reputations instead of submitting to extortion.

Preceding the receipt of letters by prominent men of the village there had been rumors of a raid on a house in the business district, and implicating several men of prominence. Within a short time prominent business men began to receive letters demanding money and stating in effect that unless the money was forthcoming the writer would not suppress information that they had been mixed up in the raid or that they were leading a double life.

The name signed to the letters was "H. J. Wellington," and the letters, which demanded sums ranging from $100 to $200, stated that the money should be left with Mrs. Austin.

The recipient of one letter consulted Attorney Cleon B. Murray, and the matter was taken up with District Attorney Traver with the result that a Pinkerton detective was employed to investigate.

The letter on which the test was made was mailed on May 7, and demanded settlement on Monday, May 10. Marked bills were placed in a blue envelope addressed to "H. J. Wellington," and delivered by the business man who had received the threatening letter at the home of Mrs. Austin, who responded to the door bell. She said Mr. Wellington had just stepped out but would return later. She was told that the caller had a letter for him and replied she would take it and give it to him.

The proceeding was being watched by Detective Roberts, Mr. Murray and Chief of Police Archibald Freer, who were in the rear of Marshall & Jansen's garage. They saw Mrs. Austin open the letter and at once went to the house. After questioning, Mrs. Austin admitted that the name "H. J. Wellington" was fictitious and she had written the letters, using her own stationery and typewriter. She is said to have admitted she knew nothing detrimental to the character of the men to whom the threatening letters had been sent. Mrs. Austin had taken into her confidence in the scheme a Mrs. Stanton, who conducts a millinery shop next door to her home, but Mrs. Austin in a sworn statement states that she alone wrote the letters. It is expected that Mrs. Stanton will leave town. Mrs. Austin has been paroled in the custody of Chief of Police Freer to await the action of the grand jury, which meets in September.

Mrs. Austin is a widow. Her husband died suddenly about a year ago after taking headache tablets, of which apparently he had taken an overdose.

HOUSE REPN'S VOTE FOR BONUS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 21.—Members of the house ways and means committee today were at work perfecting a bill providing a bonus for men who served in the military and naval forces during the world war, in accordance with the vote of 141 to 49 in favor of a bonus bill taken by the caucus of Republicans late Wednesday.

Chairman Fordney expects to report a bill to the house this week which will give ex-service men the choice of a cash bonus, home or farm aid, paid up insurance or vocational education.

Although the conference went on record as favoring a bonus, this is not regarded as insuring the passage of a bonus legislation, as members were not bound by their caucus vote to support a bonus bill in the house. There were 49 Republicans who opposed a bonus and this group combined with Democratic opponents may be able to forestall bonus legislation.

Anglers Attention!

By special request of old acquaintances of yours, Mr. and Mrs. Trent, are extending you an invitation to visit them at their home in the Catskill Mts. We might mention that the family is much larger this year but that should add to the charm of the occasion and lend to the gathering.

The old home is located in the same place surrounded by the melody of pine singing their lullaby, to the accompaniment of the rustling streams and all the beauties of the universe are reflected in those hills and mountains. Can you think of this, any time this summer?

Let us assist you in making your visit a most pleasant one. Time, place and all other little things necessary.

Yours very truly,
